Mural City

Philadelphia is a city known for many things. It is where the Declaration of Independence was signed in 1776, and it was the first capital of the United States. But one fact about Philadelphia is not so wellknown: It is home to nearly 3,000 murals painted on the sides of homes and buildings around the city. It is said that Philadelphia has more murals than any other city in the world, with the exception of Rome. How did this come to be?

More than 20 years ago, a New Jersey artist named Jane Golden started a program pairing troubled youth with artists to paint murals on a few buildings around the city. From this small project, something magical happened. The young people involved helped to create magnificent pieces of art. But there were other, perhaps more important, benefits. The young people learned to collaborate and work along with many different kinds of people during the various steps required to paint and finish a mural. They learned to be responsible, because they needed to follow a schedule to make sure the murals were completed. They also learned to take pride in their community. It is hard for any resident to see the spectacular designs and not feel proud to be a part of Philadelphia.

If you take a walk around some of the poorest neighborhoods in Philadelphia—neighborhoods full of broken windows and littered front steps—and you will find beautiful works of art on the sides and fronts of buildings. But murals are not only found in poor neighborhoods. They are found in affluent areas as well. Special buses take tourists to different parts of the city to see the various murals, which range from huge portraits of historical heroes, to cityscapes, to scenes depicting the diverse ethnic groups that call Philadelphia home.

As a result of its success, the mural program created by Jane Golden has now become the nation's largest public art program and a model for other cities throughout the country seeking to help troubled youth.

4. Which of the following literary devices does the author use in the passage?

I. Hyperbole, characterized by the use of specific words and phrases that exaggerate and overemphasize the core of the statement in order to produce a grander, more noticeable effect. This usually works to convey an action or sentiment that is generally not realistically possible or plausible but helps emphasize an emotion.

II. Foreshadowing, characterized by the use of words or phrases that hint at something—typically something bad—that is going to happen later in the story. This is done without revealing the story, spoiling the suspense.

III. Flashback, characterized by a depiction of specific events which have taken place before the present time in the narration. Flashback devices that are commonly used are past narratives by characters, depictions and references of dreams, and memories. Flashback is used to provide background information to the present situation, place or person.

Female Coaches

In the United States, there are currently no women coaching men's sports teams at the professional level of basketball, football, hockey, or baseball. At the college level, women coach fewer than 3% of men's teams. Yet it is the norm for men to coach women's sports teams. In fact, at the college level, men hold 57.1% of all coaching positions for women's teams. How do we account for this disparity?

Some claim there is a lack of female candidates seeking such jobs. Others say that female candidates lack the experience necessary to be competitive for such jobs. And jobs. Some comment on the lack of female role models who have successfully coached men. Most of these reasons are merely versions of emotional, too weak, or cannot command men's respect. Most of these reasons are merely versions of the same flimsy excuse: women do not coach men because women have never coached men.

There is a problem with this paradigm. If women are not even considered for coaching positions in men's professional sports, then we are choosing our experts from only half the population—a very limited pool. There are likely women out there with incredible talent for coaching men's professional sports. This talent will remain untapped as long as our society remains content with the current situation.

1. As used in paragraph 1, which of the following is an example of a disparity?

- a The Wildcats basketball team has won seven games and lost six so far this season.
- b Plainview High School students need to attach their posters to the wall, but they do not have any tape, thumb tacks, or glue.
- c The national shortage of nurses means that someone with a nursing degree can find a job almost anywhere.
- d West View neighborhood has three parks, yet East View neighborhood has none.

2. In paragraph 2, the author claims that people explain the lack of female coaches by saying "women do not coach men because women have never coached men." This line of reasoning can best be summarized as

- a it should never be done
- b it has never been done before
- c if it could be done, it would already have been

3. Which of the following is unlikely to ever be done? Which of the following counterarguments does the author fail to address in the passage?

- a Women should not coach men in a sport where they have not competed against men as a player.
- b Male athletes will not respect a female head coach as they would respect a male head coach.
- c Women do not have enough experience coaching men's sports teams to be qualified for the job.
- d There are so few women seeking coaching jobs for men's teams that teams are unlikely to hire a woman.

4. In the final paragraph, the author writes, "If women are not even considered for coaching positions in men's professional sports, then we are choosing our experts from only half the population—a very limited pool." Which of the following situations is most similar to the one described in this statement?

- a Schools in California will hire someone with an in-state teaching license before they will hire someone with a license from another state.
- b Successful hockey players were often the oldest in their class, since being older made them likely to be taller and stronger than their peers.
- c People who apply to law school tend to share certain character traits such as a sense of duty and a desire to play by the rules.
- d Only upperclassmen are allowed to play in the high school marching band; no freshmen or sophomores are allowed.

5. The author apparently believes that

- a any woman could coach a men's sports team if given the chance
- b men should not be allowed to coach women's sports teams
- c women should be encouraged to coach men's sports teams
- d if a woman applies to coach a men's sports team, she should get the job

6. If the author added another paragraph at the end of this passage, the topic of that paragraph would most likely be

- a the history of female coaching
- b ways to increase the number of female coaches
- c other jobs where men are usually hired instead of women
- d the number of female coaches at the high school level
