

To fire and ice

Many years ago in a magical world there were 2 kingdoms, one of fire and the other of ice, both kingdoms lived in total harmony, and their rulers were quite fair, one day all change and the ice queen wanted to rule alone, she learned black magic and Thus he could dominate both kingdoms, creating only darkness and suffering, the years passed and the queen's cruelty only increased, but when she felt alone, she wanted to turn back time and fix everything, so she freed the king from the fire of the spells, She totally regretted what happened, they forgave her, and everything returned to normal.
